and Jet Stream to name a few. The proven bulls may cost a little more, but Jay said it's money well spent:

"We like to breed to popular resalable sires," he explained. One such popular sire that many Holstein breeders find in high demand these days is Stoneylawn Paclamar Leprechaun, a Boot-maker son out of an Arlinda Chief. The bull, bred by the Kopps, is standing stud at ABS.

The working force of the Stoneylawn dairy is comprised of, left to right, Jay, Ron and their father Howard. The three men split the milking chores evenly and Jay and Ron are responsible for the breeding program.

Anne Kopp, a former school teacher, spends some time with a four-legged friend. The mother of two says she is eager to get involved in 4-H when her children are old enough.
