

Fruit production handbook available

LANCASTER — Do you grow fruit crops? If you do, you will want the latest information to help you manage your production. The 1982 Tree Fruit Production Handbook, just published by Penn State Extension, is now available for $3.50 from your county extension office.

This year's handbook is the most complete and up-to-date guide available for Pennsylvania fruit growers. It's easy to use, clearly written, and covers a comprehensive range of information fruit crop growers need to maintain healthy trees and produce maximum yields.

The guide is divided into two sections for easy reference. The first part deals with general information on tree fruit crop production, soil treatments, minimum days to harvest figures, efficacy of insecticides and miticides, postharvest disorders, spray mixture compatibilities, and a descriptive list of pesticides.

The second part gives tree fruit program recommendations by crop: apples, pears, peaches, nectarines, apricots, cherries, plums, and prunes.

The Tree Fruit Production Handbook was prepared by the Extension and resident staff members in Penn State entomology, agriculture engineering, plant pathology, and pomology. (Marshall Ritter Penn State Extension pomologist, was the general coordinator of the handbook.

Copies of the handbook are available for $3.50 from your county Extension office. Call for your copy now while you still have time to read it.

ALLIS-CHALMERS 8000 SERIES TRACTORS...

Innovative ideas add up to unequalled performance.

More power, dependability, comfort and control the most wanted tractor features all wrapped up in four big performance packages. The new 8070 (170 PTO hp*), 8050 (152 PTO hp*), 8030 (132 PTO hp*), and 8010 (106 PTO hp*) They boast proven, powerful engines at new horsepower and RPM ratings for longer, more dependable life. And a new fuel injection system in the 8070, 8050, and 8030 delivers even greater performance.

All four models are available with Allis-Chalmers exclusive no-clutch, no-stop Power Shift transmission. The 8000 Series cab is one of the largest and most comfortable around, with easy-to-reach, easy-to-operate controls. Plus, mechanical front-wheel-drive in the 8050, 8030 and 8010 gives you more driving power on command.

*Manufacturer's estimated maximum observed PTO horse power at rated engine speed.
