

4-H'ers show champion Delaware hogs

NEWARK, Del. — Alverna Ridgeway, a 9-year-old from Townsend, Del., showed the grand champion hog at the annual 4-H Feeder Pig Round-up at the Delaware State Fair.

The reserve champion hog was raised by Steve Majchrzak, 19, of Seaford.

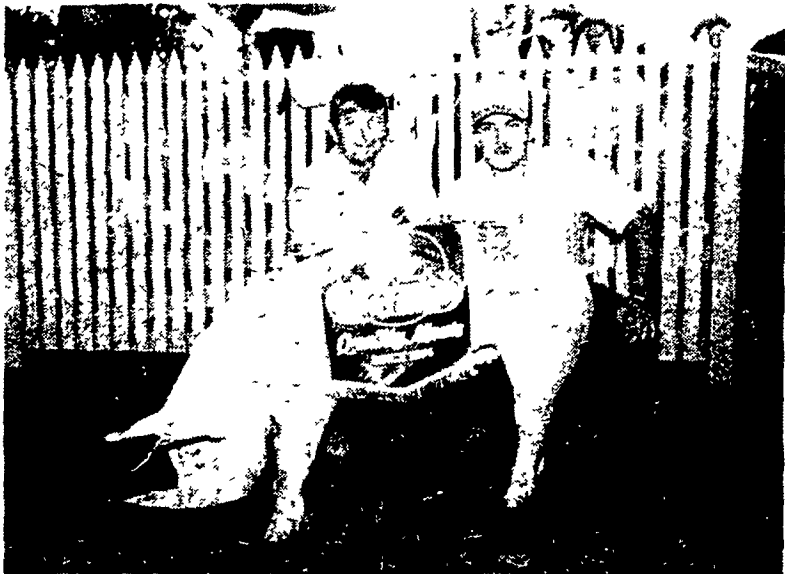

Both young people bought their animals as feeder pigs last spring and raised them to market weight.

Seventy-five pigs were entered in this year's contest, which took place the last day of the fair. After the show, hogs were sold at auction through the services of Chester Carroll of Carroll's Sales in Felton.

The 228-pound Ridgeway hog was bought for $490 by the Hatfield Packing Company of Philadelphia. The 198-pound reserve champion went for $217.80, also to the Hatfield Company.

Winner of the show's overall fitting and showmanship championship was Martha Klair of Hockessin, Del.

The reserve champion hog, raised by Steven Majchrzak, 19, of Seaford Del., was purchased by Hatfield Packing Company buyer Bill Sermon at auction for $217. The 198 pound pig was one of 75 exhibited during the 4-H Feeder Pig Round-up at the Delaware State Fair.
