

Indiana Co. livestock sale breaks record

The Grand Champion Steer, exhibited by Shop 'N Save, Donna Hartmann, meat Roy Shearer, sold for $2.40 a pound to Indiana manager, left.

INDIANA — The Grand Champion Market Hog of the Indiana County Fair, shown by Darlene M. McConaughey, sold for a record-breaking $6.50 a pound to Kuzemchak Trucking of Fallen Timber.

The 240-pound Duroc gilt was sired by HP Host and was Darlene's first grand champion hog at the Indiana County Fair in her ten-year 4-H career.

Joe Defelice's Family Restaurant and Slaughterhouse of Punksutawney was the contending bidder on the Grand Champion Hog and purchased the Reserve Champion Hog for $3.50 a pound. The 215-pound Duroc-Berkshire cross was shown by Donald Bishop of Homer City and was purchased at the McConaughey-Winebark feeder pig sale.

The Grand Champion Hog Carcass was exhibited by Jan

Lightcap of Marion Center and sold for $4.10 a pound to Ed Rellick Meat Market. The Reserve Champion Hog Carcass, shown by Dave Lowman of Marion Center, sold to Keystone National Bank for $3.30 a pound.

The final average price paid for 120 head of market hogs was $1.05 per pound.

In the market lamb competition, the brother-sister team of Kathy and Don Bishop of Homer City, captured first place.

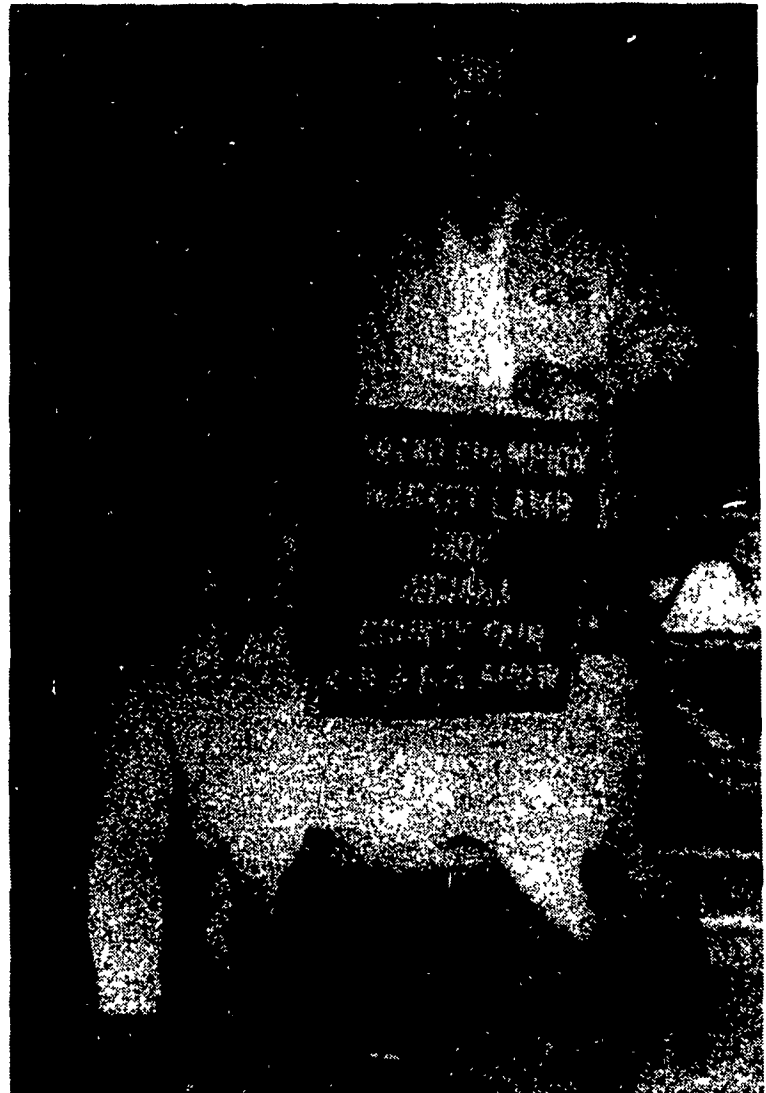

The Champion Market Lamb, a Hampshire, sold for $5.45 a pound to Elkin Concrete of Indiana. The Reserve Champion Market Lamb, shown by Kathy, sold for $3.30 a pound to Indiana Shop 'N Save.

The Champion Lamb Carcass exhibited by Calvin Sleepy of Penn Run sold for $9.45 a pound to Dinner Bell Market.

(Turn to Page A34)

The Reserve Champion Steer was purchased from Bob Bishop, right, for $1.50 a pound, by Donna Hartmann, for Indiana Shop 'N Save.

Kathy Bishop of Homer City sold her Grand Champion Market Lamb to Elkin Concrete of Indiana represented by Richard Elkin, right, for $5.45 a pound.

Joe Defelice, left, of Defelice's Family Restaurant and Slaughterhouse paid $3.50 a pound for the Reserve Champion Market Hog shown by Donald Bishop of Home City, right.

The Grand Champion Market Hog of the Indiana County Fair shown by Darlene McConaughey, left, sold for a record-breaking $6.50 a pound to Greg, middle, and George Kuzemchak, right, of Kuzemchak Trucking of Fallen Timber.