Livestock sale records set at Md. State Fair

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — Market hogs and lambs sold well again this year during the annual 4-H and FFA livestock sale, last week in the Cow Palace at the Maryland State Fair in Timonium.

New record prices were set for both the grand champion and reserve champion market lambs. Average prices for both lambs and pigs eclipsed last year's record levels.

With tears streaming down her cheeks, Rebecca Hope, 11, of Knoxville embraced her grand champion market lamb in the auction ring while it was bid up to a state fair record price of $5.70 per pound.

The 110-pound Hampshire wether was purchased by George S. Wills, president of Wills and Associates, Inc., a Baltimore public relations firm which handles publicity for the state fair.

Another Frederick County 4-H member, Gregory N. Hevner, 12, of Keymar, had the reserve champion market lamb for the second consecutive year. His 110-pound Suffolk wether at this year's fair sold for $2.75 per pound to Graul's Super Thrift grocery store at Hereford.

Becky Sue Lynch, 16, of Linwood, the new Maryland Farm Queen, sold her grand champion pair of lambs for $2.10 per pound to C. W. Jackson and Associates, a general contractor based in Towson.

Average price for the 39 lambs in this year's sale was $1.27 per pound, not counting the individual grand champion.

Donna Day, 18, of Marriottsville sold her grand champion market hog for $4 per pound to the Hatfield Packing Company of Hatfield, Pa. It was a 245-pound Hampshire barrow bred by Franklin E. Feeser of Taneytown.

Miss Day also exhibited the grand champion beef steer this year at the state fair. It brought $2.50 per pound from Esskay Quality Meat Company, a major East Coast meat packer, located in east Baltimore. The 1,180-pound purebred Angus had been purchased as a feeder calf from Farrier's Stock Farm of Royal City, Ind.

Donna and her older brother, Mickey Day, helped to establish a record by initiating a chain reaction at last week's state fair 4-H and FFA livestock sale which resulted in one market lamb being auctioned off six times.

Five of the transactions resulted in money being donated to the Howard County fair to help pay for a new livestock building.

In other sale action, Dee Curtis, 10, of Waterloo sold her reserve champion market hog to Esskay for $2.25 per pound. The 225-pound Duroc-Chester White-Yorkshire crossbred barrow had been raised from one of her own sows.

Average price for 43 market hogs entered in the sale was $1.19 per pound, not counting the grand champion.

In the beef cattle division, Randy Ridgely, 14, of Cooksville sold his reserve champion steer to Esskay for $1.25 per pound. The 1,180 pound animal was a home-raised Chianina-Angus crossbred.

Average price for 40 steers entered in the sale was 82 cents per pound, not counting the grand champion.

Only one dairy steer was entered in this year's state fair 4-H and FFA livestock sale. It was the grand champion exhibited by Harry Sellers, 16, of Manchester. The 1,190-pound Holstein went for 80 cents per pound to Thompson's Food Market of Maryland Lane (Baltimore county).

Dee Curtis, 10, of Waterloo, Howard County, has a big smile as she poses with her reserve champion market hog last week at the Maryland State Fair in Timonium. The 225-pound Duroc-Chester White-Yorkshire crossbred barrow had been raised from one of Dee's own sows. Posing with Miss Curtis is the swine show judge, Charlie Andrews of Bloomingburg, Ohio, a purebred Hampshire and Yorkshire breeder. The nifty wooden feed sled keeping Dee's pig contented was a service project for the state fair by Jeffrey S. Hevner, 16, of Keymar, a member of the FFA chapter at Walkersville high school.

Perry 4-H'ers sell champions

NEW BLOOMFIELD — Four-H'ers from Perry County celebrated a successful week of showing at the county fair by selling the champions that earned them ribbons and prize money, at the 4-H and FFA Livestock Sale, here.

According to Perry County Extension, both market hogs and market lambs averaged $1.26 per pound, while the market steers averaged $.90 per pound.

For the second consecutive year, both Commonwealth National Bank and Hatfield Packing Company purchased champions at the sale.

Commonwealth bought the 104-pound champion market lamb for $2.50 per pound. The Suffolk lamb was shown in competition by Gretchen Montgomery, New Bloomfield, who won grand champion in both the open and the 4-H show. This was the first year of competition for 9-year-old Gretchen.

Royal Donnelly, Millerstown, sold the champion hog to Hatfield Packing Co. for $2.65 per pound.

The champion steer, shown by Marsha Gray of Loysville, sold to Agway, also of Loysville, for $1.65 per pound.

Suzanne Bowman, Shermansdale, earned the titles of Reserve Open and Reserve 4-H Champion for her market lamb. This lamb sold to Kreiders Mill of Loysville for $2.10 per pound. Kreiders also purchased the reserve champion steer, shown by Jonathan Stoltzfus, Loysville, for $1.05 per pound, and the reserve champion hog, from Christine Swartzel, Newport, for $2.22 per pound.

Crist Hess of Newport captured the Reserve FFA Market Hog title while Andy Zeigler of Duncannon took the Reserve Champion 4-H Market Hog title.

Hess' hog sold to Lyster's Auto Parts for $1.72 per pound, and Zeigler's hog sold to Juniata Lumber and Supply Company.

Keith Zettlemoyer, Marysville, earned the Champion Fitter in the 4-H baby beef division, while Karla Gabel of Millerstown received the Champion Showmanship title.

Treva Whitmoyer, Landisburg, received the Champion Fitting and Showmanship awards in the market lamb competition, while Andy Zeigler captured champion showman and Christine Swartzel, Newport, earned the fitting award in the hog division.

Judge for the show was Don Sunday of York, Pa. V. Art Kling, Landisburg, donated his auctioneering services for the sale.

A record sale average of $1.04 per pound for all 4-H and FFA livestock was achieved at the sale.—DK
