Supermates! film stresses strong partnership

DES MOINES, Iowa — "Supermates! The Farm Wife: Key to Success and Happiness" is the newest tape recording in a series of interviews with Hiram M. Crache, noted historian, consultant, and author of four books on American Agriculture.

"The wife is much more crucial in motivating the farm family and determining attitudes than anyone thought before," reports Drache. He bases this and his other informative findings on the farm wife on extensive interviews conducted with more than 300 innovative farmers and their wives.

Drache, who has appeared on NBC-TV's Today Show as an authority on agriculture, is interviewed by Bill Brantley in the hour-long tape.

In his interviews of innovative farmers, Drache found that 68% said the most important event in their farming career was their marriage. "The wife's attitude pervades the whole farming operation, and her involvement in the decision-making may determine success or failure. If she is instrumental in decisions and operations affecting the farm, chances are much greater for success of the farming venture," adds Drache.

Drache feels the wife's role is so crucial that he no longer interviews the husband alone.

Among the many topics discussed in "Supermates!" is what the future will hold for the farm wife and how she should prepare for her role as an "innovative" farm wife. Drache lists and discusses the traits a farm wife needs to help her family be more successful in farming; plus discusses the characteristics needed by women aspiring to become better farm wives.

The Supermates! tape makes ideal listening for farm couples who want to improve family relationships; and for young persons who plan to enter farming or work with farm people.

Agri-business persons, educators, lenders, professional people or anyone who deals with farm families in these challenging times can gain valuable insights into how to better deal with them by hearing Drache's latest interview.

Supermates! is the third in a series of recorded interviews with Drache. The other two are "The 6Ms required for Success in Farming," and "Understanding Large and Small Farm Customers."

All three tapes are available through Bill Brantley & Association, Inc., Box 65395, West Des Moines, Iowa 50265.
