

Young romps at Milking Shorthorn show

FARM SHOW — A Cumberland County family walked off with all the marbles, Tuesday, during the Milking Shorthorn competition.

Three Springs Farm of Newville proved that it was a family affair when a dam and daughter garnered the Grand Champion and Reserve Grand Champion titles, respectively.

When the dust settled, the James Young family also netted, the Junior and Reserve Junior Champion titles as well as Premier Breeder and Exhibitor banners.

Young's aged cow entry Three Springs TFP Peggy marked her Farm Show debut with a grand champion title. Currently milking 75 pounds daily, the champ is sired by Tabbagong F Prince.

Her daughter Three Springs Ann kept the winning in the family by earning the Reserve Grand Champion title.

The Reserve Champ's daughter

Three Springs BR Ann, by Bell Ringer followed suit with a Reserve Junior Champion win.

Young's senior yearling Three Springs Bo, coming off a successful 1982 show season, continued her winning ways and collected Junior Champion honors. Sired by Three Springs Peg Jewel, the junior champ is due in August to Elwood Princes Promise.

blue-ribbon performance in the junior calf class.

The Favorite Saint daughter, out of Ralaine SMSN Peaches was one of 10-head of show animals. The calf's second dam, who scored excellent, was the project calf of Lori Sollenberger, a Penn State graduate now working toward the advancement of a dairy industry in Sri Lanka, formerly Ceylon. The small island is located in the Indian Ocean off the southeast tip of India.
