HARRISBURG — Karl D. Strause, of West Lawn, Berks County, has assumed the position of student intern in the Pennsylvania State Grange office for the Spring term.

Strause is currently a junior at Penn State studying environmental resources management with an emphasis in economics and environmental policy. The major falls under Penn State's College of Agriculture.

This is the second year that the State Grange has participated in an internship program with Penn State.

"The program has been a very successful venture for the State Grange," State Grange Master Charles Wismer said.

learning experience on both sides. Students gain insight into the legislative process and the workings of a large rural farm organization and we gain the benefit of new and fresh approaches."

Strause has another year to complete at Penn State before graduation, but after that he plans to become an environmental lobbyist.

At the Grange, Strause's duties include legislative research and reporting, representing the Grange at various meetings, and keeping a close watch on the movement of state and federal legislation in which the State Grange has an interest.
