Dauphin County presents conservation awards

HARRISBURG — Each year the Dauphin County Conservation District combines their December Directors' Meeting with a Conservation Awards Program. Recognition is given to individuals who have made outstanding personal contributions in the field of conservation.

At the recent District's Awards Dinner in Halifax, four special presentations were made.

George Moore of Millersburg received a Distinguished Service Award for 32 years of volunteer service, 27 years as a District Director. His interests in conservation education and soil conservation have helped make the Dauphin Conservation District one of the most respected Districts in Pennsylvania.

Aaron Hoffer from Middletown also received a Distinguished Service Award for his 25 years of volunteer service as a District Director. His commitment to soil conservation on his own farm and through out the county has helped the Dauphin Conservation District become recognized as a leader in the field of soil conservation.

Robert Megonnell of Dauphin received an Environmental Educator Award for his outstanding volunteer efforts over the last eleven years as the Administrator of the Dauphin County
