

Ringtown Farm Equipment — A family concern since 1950

Ringtown Farm Equip., Inc., of Ringtown, PA, has logged 22 years in the sales and service of International Harvester equipment.

M & R Equipment carries on tradition

The history of M&R Equipment, Inc., of New Park, PA, dates back to 1914 when the Robinson brothers, Harry and Arthur, opened an International Harvester business in Cardiff, Maryland, a slate-mining town near Delta, PA.

Like many retailers of the day, the dealership was a general store, of sorts, selling grains, coal, and lumber, and trying to convince area farmers that the gasoline-powered tractor was indeed

Ringtown Farm Equip, Inc. made its debut in the farm equipment business back in 1950, with a small parts room and one service bay at their West Main Street location in Ringtown.

With 11 years experience as their foundation, the firm took on International Harvester in 1961, adding two extra service bays to handle the increase in their business.

Nineteen eight-one was an important year for the company with the construction of their new facilities at their current location one-half mile north of town.

With the father-son team of Jim Ambrose, Sr., and Jim, Jr. as owners, other employees include Parts Manager Harry Ambrose, servicemen Allen Wolf and Rich Schlauch, and Jim Jr.'s wife Mary Beth Ambrose assuming secretarial duties.

With 22 years experience in the sale and service of I.H. equipment, the firm has been an International Harvester Certified Service Dealer since moving to its new location in 1981.

The dealership continues today in the form of M&R Equipment, Inc., in the neighboring town of New Park, PA. Implements pictured include two International trucks, a new McCormick Deering Thresher, and two I.H. tractors.
