

Pig litter scale developed

EPHRATA, Pa. — New WayPig litter scale, developed by Raytec Manufacturing, solves two major problems faced by hog farmers — how to weigh and conveniently transport pig litters.

WayPig's sensitive scale eliminates guesswork associated with "eyeball" measurements. Easy-to-read gauge clearly shows litter weight in both pounds and kilograms. Simple and rugged mechanism is designed for years of use.

Four caster wheels and high clearance allow WayPig to easily navigate narrow aisles and tight corners. All-metal construction and expanded wire floor save time in clean-up and do not harbor disease germs. Integral Vet-Tray holds veterinary supplies, medicines or essential tools.

Cattle dealer sentenced

WASHINGTON, D.C.

— Ernest Mendel, a former New York cattle dealer, has been fined $50,000, sentenced to a year-and-a-day in jail and given three years' probation — to begin after he completes the prison sentence — for falsifying U.S. Department of Agriculture animal disease test records.

Mendel's family-run business, Albert Mendel and Sons Inc., of Patterson, N.Y., was fined $100,000 in the same court decision.

"Falsifying animal disease test records is a serious crime," said Bert W. Hawkins, administrator of USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service. "Mendel was convicted of falsifying test records for brucellosis and tuberculosis, two livestock diseases that can be passed from animals to humans."

A federal grand jury indicated Mendel and his firm in 1983 on 52 counts of misrepresentation and making false statements regarding blood samples from cows sold by his firm. In 1978, Mendel's firm was a large dairy cattle dealership, selling cows in both interstate and foreign commerce.

Expert witnesses testified in court that blood samples used in tests were taken from two healthy bulls — not from Mendel's infected cows, which were then sold to unsuspecting dairy producers.
