NARVON — The patches are judged and the results are in from the Mt. Rock Family Shop quilt patch contest held during the month of August. Minerva Koser, proprietor of the Narvon shop, said she was pleased with the success of the contest, which she held for the first time this year, and plans to continue next year.

Shop customers acted as judges for the contest, selecting the best of the 36 patches entered in four categories. Janice Weaver, a seventh grade student at North Lebanon Christian Day School, took first place in the children's corner with her "Dutch Boy and Girl." The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Weaver, Janice likes to needlepoint, crochet, paint, embroider and read.

Ruth Petershiem, Narvon, took second in the children's division and Denzal Burkholder, Fleetwood, took third.

First place in the applique division went to Mrs. Thelma Martin of R2 New Holland, for her "Lancaster County Rose" done in burgandy on unbleached muslin. Mrs. Martin has been quilting since she was 15 years old and made her winning pattern for her church to enter in the M.C.C. Relief sale. "I'd rather quilt than anything else," she said.

Other winners in the applique division were: second, Holly Tree Farm, Middletown; third, Katherine Schenck, Freehold, N.J.

In the embroidery division Mrs. Sara Ann Petershiem, Narvon, took first place with her "Dresden Plates Cross Stitch" pattern done in gold and brown. Mrs. Petershiem, who has been sewing since she was 12, says she entered the patch because she's making a quilt for her niece who is her namesake.

Second place in the embroidery division went to Lavina Petershiem of Narvon, for "Snow Flake Flower" done in brown and gold on white.

Lavina Petershiem also took first place in the patchwork division with a floral print and dusty rose "Colonial Star." She has been putting quilt tops together for about six years.

Lois Miller of Narvon took second place in the patchwork division, while third place went to Sue Kurtz of Narvon.

Next year, Mrs. Koser said, she plans make a few changes in the contest. She said she will accept entries from January 1 through April 30, and the patches will be judged during the month of May instead of during August. Entries will be accepted in the same four categories.

"Enter again and tell a friend," Mrs. Koser encouraged.
