

LANCASTER — Heritage Day will be observed at the Pennsylvania Farm Museum of Landis Valley tomorrow Sunday, Oct. 21 from noon to 5 p.m. In addition to the buildings and exhibit areas normally open, a special feature this year will be the periodic showing of the film "A Thing About Barns."

Recently released, this fifteen (15) minute film presentation is designed to raise the viewer's consciousness about the barns of southeastern Pennsylvania which are so often taken for granted. Local residents will recognize barns from this area and gain a new appreciation of their beauty and function. These sturdy, structures, which are an important part of the rural heritage, will come alive and tell their own story through this presentation. The film will be shown every half hour beginning at 12:30 p.m. with the last showing at 4:30 p.m.

Admission to the Museum is $3.00 for adults (18-64); $2.00 for groups and senior citizens (65 and over); $1.00 for youth (6-17); children (under 6) free.

The Pennsylvania Farm Museum, located four (4) miles north of Lancaster on Route 272, is administered by the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission which sponsors Heritage Day in honor of William Penn's birthday.
