

SHENANDOAH INCINERATORS - A SANITARY ALTERNATIVE FOR ON FARM DISPOSAL

To Help Prevent the Spread of Disease

The sanitary way to get rid of animal carcasses is with a Shenandoah incinerator. It's pollution controlled and convenient to use. It's also extra efficient because we've lined the burning chambers, and in some models even the afterburning chambers, with one and a quarter inches of refractory cement. That keeps the heat up and the energy costs down.

Choose among eight easy-to-install smoke and odor controlled models. You even have the option of burning gas or oil.

Ask your local Shenandoah dealer about efficient, inexpensive incinerators. You'll find out how our bright ideas in farm equipment can mean a bright spot in your day. And still leave a green spot in your wallet.

A Cage isn't enough

It takes more than wire to make a cage system. More than anything else it takes a feeder.

Sure, other components are important, but mainly it's the feeder that makes the system. That's why Big Dutchman's Systems are equipped with a SPEED FEED chain feeder that feeds every bird the right amount at the right time, without waste.

When you compare poultry equipment remember that the real test of a cage system is its feeder. Big Dutchman is ready for the test.

N.J. Holstein seminar set

FLEMINGTON, N.J. — Duane Green, Elsie, Michigan, will be the featured speaker at the New Jersey Holstein Seminars set for Tuesday, April 9. They will be held at two locations: 10:30 a.m. at the Allamuchy Town Hall; 7:30 p.m. at the Farm Credit Service building, Main St. in Rancocas.

Green is associated with the family-owned, nationally known Green Meadow Farms, Inc., the largest registered Holstein herd in the county. It numbers 1,500 head. He is currently vice-president of the National Holstein Association.

A principal interest for the Greens is milk promotion, in addition to merchandizing good cattle. Green has been very active in the development of sales promotion efforts for milk. He will be discussing this subject along with his views on herd management and the sale of cattle.

Co-Chairman for the annual seminars are Amos Rudderow, Moorestown, and Bucky Jones, Medford.

The price is right: $2 for seniors, free to juniors. Holstein breeders are urged to bring their dairy farm neighbors.
