

New Dealership Moving To Different Clayton Location

A fairly new but thriving Purina dealership in Clayton, Del., plans a move this summer.

Spencer's Milling Service of South Rodney St., will be moving its shop to Route 300. The business, said owner Jack Spencer, is really expanding, with a lot of the work actually done on the road.

Spencer and his wife, Dottie, with the help of farm consultant Gene Garrett and son Mike, provide customers with mobile grinding, delivery, dairy programming, farmtronix sales and farm supplies by Purina.

A warehouse was built in 1982, with the inclusion, too, of a retail showroom and two mobile mills.

Most of Spencer's business is dairy but a good deal of it is found in hog and horse, as well.

Spencer's Milling Service earned Purina Chow Honor Council membership in 1984.

The Spencers plan to have an open house just as soon as they open their new shop on Route 300 in Clayton this summer. Be looking for them; they carry a full line of large and small animal supplies.

Farm consultant Gene Garrett preparing to review a dairy feeding program with one of his customers at Spencer's Milling Service.

This is Spencer's bulk truck headed out for another delivery in Clayton, Del.

Purina Trivia

Ralston Purina is, of course, more than just products and services. People are the most important factor in the success of Ralston Purina - and the communities in which our employees live. Because it has been successful over the years, the Company recognizes that an appropriate amount of money and volunteer time needs to be returned to the communities in which we have manufacturing or office facilities.

To sum up, Ralston Purina is more than a business entity. It is made up of people who possess a certain Checkerboard spirit which is used in their daily routine as well as is shown here through the Company's very own amateur show cast. A variety show comprised of employees. A unique company function started 70 years ago by William H. Danforth.

One of three mobile mills, shown, is available to service farmers in the Clayton area. Spencer's is located along Route 300, and caters primarily to the dairy industry.

Spencer's Milling Service

South Rodney Street
Clayton, DE
302/653-8011

PURINA
MILLS, INC.

★ Trademark Ralston Purina Company

Farm Consultant Gene Garrett preparing to review a dairy feeding program with one of his customers.

One of three Mobile Mills which Spencer's Milling has available to service the farmers in their area.