

Crops added to Parquat label

SAN FRANCISCO — Label changes have been announced for Paraquat+Plus and two other Chevron Chemical Company products.

Sixteen new crops have been added to the label for Paraquat+Plus, the fast-acting contact herbicide distributed by Chevron Chemical Company.

Paraquat+Plus is now labeled for preplant or pre-emergence use to kill emerged annual broadleaf weeds and grasses and for top kill and suppression of perennials on these crops: beans (lima, snap), broccoli, cabbage, carrots, cauliflower, chinese cabbage, collards, cucurbits (watermelon, cantaloupe, muskmelon, pumpkin, squash, cucumber), eggplant, peas, turnips, green onions and dry bulb onions.

The herbicide may now be used as a pre-emergence or preplant spray on established stands of asparagus, and approval has been granted for use of the product as a directed spray on kiwi fruit, pistachios and strawberries.

Orthene Specialty Concentrate—The morman cricket and black grass bug have been added to the label for pasture, rangeland and wasteland use.

Bolero 10G—The smallflower umbrellaplant has been added to the existing label for rice herbicide.

Lifting fork attachment

The Automatic MT-30 fork assembly converts a front-end loader into a handy lifting fork for jobs requiring high lift. Heavy-duty, reinforced moveable tines adjust for any load. The practical working height depends upon stability of the tractor and balance of the load.
