Butch Harrison tops poultry judging contest

HONEY BROOK - Butch Harrison, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Emery Harrison of Honey Brook, led Twin Valley FFA members to individual and team honors in the recent Berks County FFA Poultry judging contest. Butch captured first place individual honors in the contest.

Robert Bell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bell Mohnton and a Twin Valley member, placed second. Mike Devine of Honey Brook placed fourth to round out the Twin Valley team. Other Twin Valley members were John Foreman and Sue Wilson.

The poultry judging contest required students to place two classes of laying hens. A class of four dozen eggs was placed with students indicating what faults they had found with each dozen. Contestants took a written test on egg quality, incubation and brooding of the chicks, and raising poultry.

Ten different chicken parts

(retail cuts) had to be identified. A class of 25 eggs was graded for interior quality by candling each egg. A similar class was graded for exterior quality only. Finally a class of ten broiler carcasses was graded into U.S. Dept. of Agriculture market grades.

Eggs and hens for the contest were furnished by Elverson Poultry Farm, with Victor F. Weaver of New Holland supplying the broilers and chicken patties for a session on grading which will be included in the state and national contest.

The Oley Valley team placed second in team competition. Fred Lutz placed third in individual competition, Robert Hess placed fifth individually, and Craig Wanner was ninth.

The Kutztown team placed third in team competition. Heath Westner placed seventh individually, Butch Behn eighth, with Andy Murphy rounding out their team.

Hamburg's team was fourth with Tammy Balthaser placing sixth individually. Other Hamburg team members were Ester Sonon and Rich Bell. Tulpehocken's team of Corey Gerhart, David Nevin, and Jeff Naftzinger placed fifth
