

Hancor's 'Bio-Flow' tubing resists clogging

LEINDLAY, Ohio - Hancor announces a major advance in farm drainage for land prone to develop iron ochre or red sludge. This iron forming bacteria can render a drainage system useless in as little as six months by clogging the drain perforations. After two years of extensive field and laboratory testing, Hancor claims to have the only proven product to combat the problem - BIO-FLOW (TM) tubing made with a unique compound that contains a bacteria-inhibiting agent.

Hancor's new BIO-FLOW tubing compound is EPA approved, non-toxic and environmentally safe. Independent laboratory tests show no detectable levels of bacteria-inhibiting agent observed in either soil or water exposed for months to the product under actual field drainage conditions. It is available from Hancor in 4-, 5-, 6- and 8-inch diameters and is bright orange in color.

For further information, contact your local distributor, or write to Hancor, Inc., P.O. Box 1047, Findlay, Ohio 45839.

The satisfaction that comes from doing a good job of farming

Liming is one of the most important factors in keeping your soil in the highest productive range. A good pasture with a pH of 6.5 or higher, for example, will make 300 to 400 lbs. of beef per acre and produce up to $100 gross income per acre. This means with the help of lime, profits from pastures can compare favorably with feed or grain crops.
