Lancaster Farm Sells

For $1.95 Million

LANCASTER — A mobile home dealer paid nearly $2 million for a Lancaster County farm in a public auction here this week. Larry's Homes Inc. of Dover Delaware, who purchased the 113-acre Achey farm for $1,950,000, plans to put a 592-unit mobile home park on the land.

The purchase price for the farm works out to $18,571 per acre, some $14,500 more than the average price county farmers paid for agricultural land in 1985. That figure is based on 105 acres planned for the mobile home park. The remaining acreage consists of pastureland. A local developer attributed the high price to the mobile park plan.

Township officials and area residents opposed the proposed park, but the three Achey brothers, who are executors of the farm owned by their father, won the right to build the park when the state Supreme Court ruled in their favor last December.

Fred A. Achey of Bethlehem, Lancaster attorney Charles A. Achey Jr., who now lives at the farm, and Phillip M. Achey, Gainesville, Fla., are executors and trustees of the estate of their late father, Charles A. Achey Sr.

About a half dozen bidders participated in the bidding, which opened at $500,000, auction officials reported. Auctioneer was Elmer M. Murry of E.M. Murry Associates of Lititz.

Delaware Plans Record-Keeping Survey

NEWARK, Del. — The Delaware Cooperative Extension System has announced plans to survey Delaware farmers regarding their financial record-keeping practices.

About 500 farmers (one out of every seven in the state) will receive the questionnaire. The information provided will be used to plan educational programs to improve farm profitability. Farmers' names are not requested in the survey.

According to extension agricultural program leader Dave Woodward, there are essentially three kinds of farmers—those making money and planning to continue doing so; those losing money but seeking solutions to their problems; and those who won't know where they stand financially or what their future prospects are in farming.

"Farmers can easily wind up in the second and third categories if they don't follow sound financial record-keeping practices and use their records in making management decisions," Woodward says. "We want to know what kinds of financial records Delaware farmers keep. We also want to know how many farmers would welcome extension assistance in improving their record-keeping and financial analysis skills."
