

West Virginia Family Wraps Up Steer Show

BY JACK HUBLEY
HARRISBURG — Although Doug Goodwin came north of the Mason-Dixon line to compete in Saturday's junior steer show at the Keystone International, he found the stiffest competition coming from his brother rather than the host state.

By show's end, Doug, 15, and his brother, Sean, 10, of Lewisburg, West Virginia, had taken grand and reserve honors with two of their heavyweight entries. The young cattlemen are the sons of Bill and Janet Goodwin.

Doug's winning steer was a 1,210-pound entry that he bought in Ohio. A class winner in the West Virginia State Fair, the steer was sired by the Chianina bull, Black Power Play, out of a Limousin-Angus cow.

Sean showed another Black Power Play son, weighing 25 pounds more than the champion, to the reserve spot. Although this was Sean's second year of 4-H competition, he actually began showing at age 7 in the open shows. "He won his class the first time out," recalls his father. The early experience was evidently a good investment, since the following year he exhibited the champion Angus heifer at the West Virginia State Fair.

The Goodwins own a 200-acre farm where they raise about 45 Angus and Chianina cows. They exhibit cattle in about 20 shows a year and sell club calves to other junior exhibitors. Following are results of the show, placed by Ron Bolze, Ohio State University's beef specialist.

PDA Seeks Century Farm Nominations

LANCASTER — Lancaster County Extension Agent Jay Irwin has announced that applications for Lancaster County Century Farm nominations are still being accepted by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

"To qualify as a Century Farm, the farm must have been owned by the same family for 100 consecutive years," said Irwin. "A family member must currently live on the farm," he added, "and the farm must consist of at least 10 acres of the original holding, or gross over $1,000 annually from the sale of farm products."

Lancaster County currently has 84 registered Century Farms. One hundred fifty Century Farms have been recognized around the commonwealth during 1985, bringing the state's total to 1,052.

Century Farm information and applications may be obtained from the Lancaster County Extension Service, 1383 Arcadia Road, Room 1, Lancaster, PA 17601, or from the Department of Agriculture, Press Office, 2301 North Cameron Street, Harrisburg, PA 17110.
