

Paperwhites

A fun-to-do indoor gardening project these winter days for youngsters and adults alike is to grow some sweet scented paperwhite narcissus flowers from bulbs. In just four weeks the tender bulbs will bloom.

Use a shallow bowl. Position the bulbs with pebbles, gravel or very small stones. Adding some bits of charcoal will keep the water sweet. Set the bulbs in high enough to have room for roots to grow and push into the bottom of the bowl. Add water up to but not over the neck of the bulbs. Keep in a cool closet for root development. Then remove to bright light but not direct sun for forcing.

With regular room temperature and light and successive plantings, the paperwhites will display their white stars all winter long, reminds the Hort Agent.
