

Lewis Family At Shindig

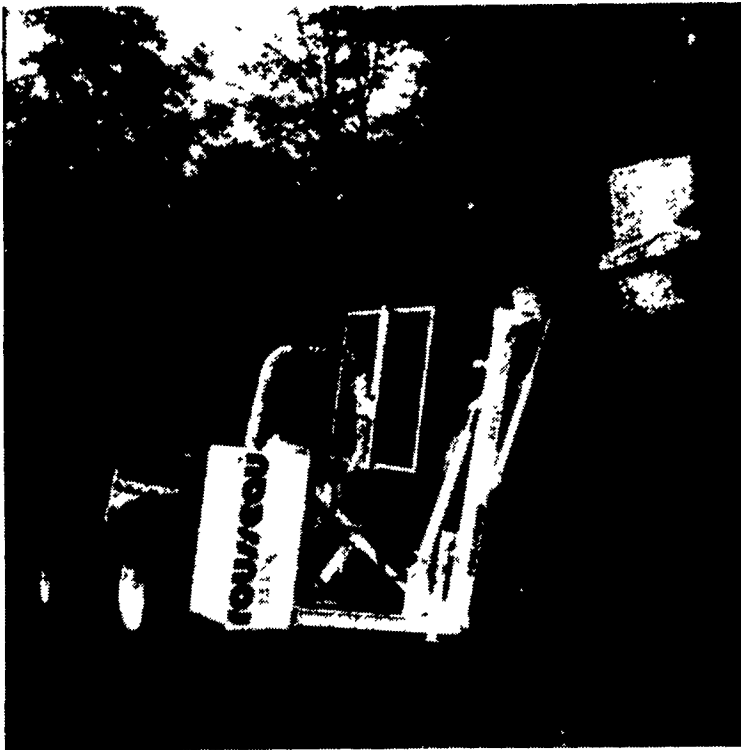

The Lewis Family will make their 80th appearance at the 20th anniversary of the Shindig In The Barn. This bluegrass concert will be held Saturday, August 1, at Martin's Sale Barn east of Inter-course. Doors open at 6 p.m. Concert starts at 8 p.m.

The story of The Lewis Family dates from about 1950, when Roy ("Pop") Lewis, Sr. and "some of my children" began to perform at "singings" in rural churches and schoolhouses in the northeast Georgia and western South Carolina area surrounding their Lincolnton, Georgia home. In April, 1954, the group landed a one hour Sunday morning live telecast on Augusta's powerful WJBF, Channel Six. Having never missed a broadcast in the same time slot and in its fourth decade, the show is quite likely the longest-running continuous TV show in existence anywhere. Now videotaped, it is enjoyed by thousands of fans every week.

Each of the currently performing members of the immediate family of Pop Lewis was in the original group, including daughters Miggie, Polly and Janis and sons, Wallace and Roy Lewis, Jr., the inimitable "Little Roy." Wallace's son Travis joined the cast in 1974, followed in 1979 by then six-year-old Lewis Phillips, son of Janis Lewis Phillips. The diversity of ages within The Lewis Family is fitting, for the unit's magic appeal to fans sweeps a wide swath, extending from the youngest in an audience to the eldest.
