

Angus Honors Go To York And Bucks Breeders

Rains Star Buck LS417 owned by Dale Rains of Mercer County captured the grand championship of State Farm Show Angus competition.

HARRISBURG (Dauphin) — GH2 Associates of York County was named the premier breeder of the Angus Breeding Cattle Show at the 73rd Pennsylvania Farm Show.

Dr. Joseph Calderazzo, wife Sally and daughter Jennifer of RD 9, York, brought six animals to the Farm Show and bred two other animals that were exhibited here. Jennifer exhibited the champion senior heifer calf, "Ms Elba Saleen of GH2" and the reserve champion bull calf, "GH2 Villanova."

They've had numerous champions at the Farm Show since 1983. Twelve-year-old Jennifer, a member of the York County Baby Beef Club, is in her fourth year showing at the Farm Show. She has two heifers entered in Thursday's junior competition.

Presently, there are 105 head of Angus on their Greystone Farm. They do embryo transplant work and some of the cows are recipients for their embryo program.

Putting credit where credit is due, the Calderazzo's said, "We wouldn't have won if it weren't for Brenda Walter, our herdsman for the entire operation. She does an extremely good job, 365 days a year... she does all our breeding, feeding and traveling."

Royal Blackbird of GU captured the Angus grand champion female title at the 73rd Pennsylvania State Farm Show in Harrisburg last week. Blackbird is the early summer yearling heifer owned by Warren Angus and Genetics Unlimited in Chester County. Angus show judge Dr. Ron Bolze was impressed by the structural correctness, soundness and strength of hoof on the move of the champion. Kay Sweigart (at the halter) is manager of Warren Angus.

With help from daughter Deb Hess, son-in-law Robert Hess and grandson John, the Metzlers gathered ribbons for exhibiting the reserve grand champion female, the reserve junior champion female, the junior champion bull and the reserve senior champion bull.

The Metzlers and Hesses operate Salunga Acres, south of Mount Joy. Salunga Acres was named premier breeder and premier exhibitor of the Polled Hereford show. The 1989 competition was the fifth Farm Show for Salunga Acres.

Adams County Farm Show's Grand Champion

Spring Bottom Farm has been exhibiting at the Pennsylvania

Farm Show for about 15 years. They've had a Farm Show champion or reserve champion every year but two out of the last twelve years. In keeping with tradition, all four of Darcy's heifers won first place awards today.
Darcy raises all of his females at Spring Bottom Farm, but does use some embryo transplants and artificial insemination.

Urban Farm Show visitors often wonder if the animals are bothered by all the people and commotion. Darcy said, "Our cows are pretty
