Acres Corn Update: Corn futures added to yesterday's gains and settled from 2 to 3-1/2 cents higher this afternoon. Buying was in response to weather forecasts for a return of warm and dry weather late this week over the western belt. July was further supported by good commercial demand linked to ideas that the USSR would soon be in the market for export. Further support was attributed to news that Mexico had purchased 139,500 metric tonnes. Oat futures closed lower on ideas that there would be heavy deliveries posted against the July on first notice day this Friday. July corn settled two cents higher for the day at $2.64-3/4 after trading in a range from $2.63-1/2 to $2.66-1/2. Bids for generic certificates were steady today.

Acres Soybean Update: Soybean futures prices ended today's session mixed with the front three options from 2 lower on the September to 10-3/4 lower on the July. November settled unchanged while the January gained 1/2 cent. Weakness in the spot July managed to spill over to the other months and eroded gains made early in the session. Pressure on the old crop months was attributed to news beans were starting to move in Brazil in spite of the farmer protests. The sentiment that the protest was becoming less effective prompted selling. Additional pressure was linked to conflicting weather forecasts with prospects for increased rainfall in parts of the midwest prompting late liquidation. November settled unchanged this afternoon at $6.46 after trading in a range from $6.43 to $6.52-1/2.

Acres Wheat Update: Wheat futures prices closed from 1/4 cent lower on the Spot July to 4-3/4 cents higher on the March option. July ended lower on late session profit-taking after trading in a tight range most of the day. Heavy buying early in the day was in response to optimism that the USSR may soon make another substantial purchase outside of the export bonus program. Additional support was provided by continued harvest delays with additional gains held in check by ideas that prices had approached a near term top. July settled today at $4.12-1/4 after trading in a range from $4.08-1/2 to $4.14-1/4. The December option traded to a high of $4.25 with the March hitting $4.26.
