National Egg Market

June 28, 1989

The market tone was generally steady. Distributive movement varied from both inside and outside each area. The best call was usually where attractive retail promotions were either planned or in progress. Supplies for the most part were adequate to satisfy current needs. Breakers were cautious and selective.

Eastern PA & NJ Live Poultry

June 28, 1989

The trade sentiment was unsettled. Offers from producers for light type hens were short of buyer needs. Some heavy hens traded at 17-17.50 cents for current pickup. Processors operated part time schedules this week, some plan to close all next week and others will operate three days. Demand for canner pack product was sufficient to clear available floor stocks at steady prices.

New York Eggs

June 28, 1989

Prices were unchanged. Trade sentiment was steady. Cartoned egg demand was about moderate with some dealers still looking for a last minute push for Forth of July deliveries. Supplies were in good balance to easily satisfy current needs.

Northeast Chicken Parts

June 28, 1989

Cutlets were fully adequate to ample and trading prices continued to edge lower as a result of a no better than fair demand and lower trending costs of whole breasts. Rib on and line run breasts were in closest balance in the Delmarva region; however, overall supplies continued to be in excess of market needs. Legs were adequate while leg quarters were in best demand and generally no more than adequate. Wings were a bit more available than yesterday but confidently held at many points.

Acres Cattle Update: Live cattle futures ended today's session mixed while the feeders posted losses from 7 to 18 points. Trading throughout the session was lackluster with prices remaining confined to narrow ranges. The fats lost 15 points each on the front August and October options while the remaining months closed from 2 to 20 higher. Pressure early in the day was in response to reports of light fed cattle sales at lower prices with support provided by active boxed beef movement yesterday. End of the month positioning was featured in advance of the upcoming holiday. Feeder futures were also confined to narrow ranges today with weakness linked to profit taking. A healthy uptick in the latest cash index price provided support.

CME FEEDER CATTLE SETTLEMENT PRICE - 6/26/89-$82.47 up $.26 ACRES NEXT DAY OUTLOOK: CASH - steady FUTURES - steady to mixed

Acres Hog Update: Hog futures prices settled mixed this afternoon with the spot July closing unchanged while the other months settled from 2 higher to 20 lower. Pressure throughout the session was exerted by cash market weakness. Support was provided by the sentiment that marketings in advance of the holiday would be reduced along with ideas that Friday's USDA Hog and Pig report would be supportive. Rumors circulated that hogs had backed up at the terminals after Illinois Pork Corp. of Mommouth, Ill. closed its slaughter operations.. speculation ran high that the company had been sold or declared bankruptcy. Bellies closed out the day higher on a late short-covering rally. Mid-day quotes for hams were lower $1.00 to $2.50 while loins were $1.00 to $2.00 higher. Slaughter for today is estimated at 297,000.
