

Somerset County Dairy Princess Crowned

BOSWELL (Somerset Co.) — Somerset County crowned their new dairy princess on June 17, at the Somerset Area Senior High School. Tracey Blair, daughter of Greg and Bonnie Blair of Boswell, was chosen as the 1989 Somerset County Dairy Princess.

Tracey is a senior at Somerset Area High School where she is involved in the English Club, softball team and chorus. She is a member of the Super Milkers 4-H Club.

Dressed as an investigative reporter, Tracey interviewed a child, a teenager, a father, and a grandmother and asked each one how important dairy products were in their lives.

Other contestants for the evening were Tonya Lohr, daughter of Larry and Gloria Lohr; and Sarah Schwarm, daughter of Carl and Connie Schwarm. Both girls will serve as alternate dairy princesses.

Each girl received a $50 savings bond and jewelry. For winning, Tracey received a bouquet of red roses, a $200 gift certificate from Farm Credit and a $200 cash award from the Dairy Promotion Committee. Each alternate received a $50 cash award.

A little princess pageant was also held. Six young ladies, ages 5-7, promenaded across the stage and were interviewed about life on their farm. Mindy Countryman, daughter of David and Linda Countryman was chosen as the 1989 Somerset County Little Princess.

Judges for the pageant were Bailey Herring, dairy farmer from Fayette County, Lynn Taylor, former dairy princess and Special Events Planner for Crown America, and Bill Brown, WJAC-local television personality. Master of Ceremonies for the evening was Bob Brown, Somerset County Extension Agent.

After the coronation an ice cream social was held in the school cafeteria.
