Acres Corn Update: Limit gains for corn were the result of another day of weather related buying after the latcst National Weather Service 6 to 10 day forecast. Prospects for hotter and drier weather opened the pit limit higher with limited selling midday emerging. Unfilled buy orders on the close numbered nearly 29 million bushels. Limitless July closed 11-3/4 cents higher at $2.83-3/4 after trading in a range from $2.78-3/4 to $2.83-3/4. December never moved from its 10 cent limit gain and remained at $2.71-1/2 throughout the day. Outs also posted limit gains with limitless July posting an eleven cent gain. Bids for generic certificates were 1/2% higher today at 99 to 100-1/2%.

Acres Soybean Update: soybean futures settled limit higher across the board this afternoon with limitless July gaining 36 cents and closing at a 14 week high of $7.76-1/2. Most months opened limit higher on the latest National Weather Service forecast calling for above normal temperatures and below normal rainfall for the next 6 to 10 days in the western belt. Continued rainfall in the southeastern states also provided support with unfilled buy orders on the close totalling nearly 4 million bushels on the November. Some activity midday was tied to South American hedge selling and speculative profittaking. November closed back above $7.00 today at $7.02 after trading to a low of $6.97 midday.

(717) 761-2740

Acres Wheat Update: Chicago wheat futures posted gains today from 9 to 9-1/2 cents, mainly on spillover from limit gains in the com, sovbean and out pits. Pressure was tied to the harvest amid concerns over a slack near term export outlook. The prospect of hot and dry weather in the spring wheat belt during the heading stage prompted buying. July gained 9-1/2 cents and settled at $4.04 after trading in a range from $3.98 to $4.05 while September gained 9-1/4 and settled for the day at $4.11-1/2. Some spread trading was featured today with the absence of delivery notices prompting bull spreading against the September.
