

Shorthorn Junior Nationals Heat Up Ohio

TROY, OH. — More than 500 Shorthorn enthusiasts gathered in Troy, Ohio for the National Junior Shorthorn Show and Youth Conference held earlier this summer. The week full of activities included the competitive National Junior Heifer and Steer Show. A total of 225 cattle from 18 states were evaluated by judges Joe Bill Meng, Bowling Green, Ky., and Scott Schaake, Lexington, Ky.

Taking home the week's most coveted honors was Lisa Masterson of Guthrie, Texas. She led her heifer, CF Juliette 799 G ET, a stout, voluminous daughter of Seven T's Greg, to the winners circle as grand champion. Coming out of the senior division, this September senior yearling, bred by Cates Farms, Modoc, Ind., weighed in at 1,465 pounds and posted a frame score of 8.9.

Following Masterson with the reserve champion female was Andrew Brautigam of Sidney, Ohio. JAMS Deerpark Amanda, the 1988 national champion female, continued to prove her force in the show ring as this super-complete daughter of Deerpark Leader 13th added to her list of wins. The 1,350 pound, 9.3 frame female also was tapped as grand champion bred & owned female.

The reserve champion bred & owned female was DF Adeline's Daisy, shown by Meredith Flaming, Fairview, Okla. This senior yearling daughter of 3W Payoff x weighed 1,350 pounds with a frame score of 8.9. She was named champion female at the 1989 National Western earlier this year.

Grand champion purebred market steer was CF Supreme Steer 883X, a white, 1,045-pound son of CF Rambo x, exhibited by Trevor Scamahorn, Pimento, Ind. Like the champion female, he also came from the Cates Farm program.

Reserve champion purebred market steer was Knight's Wedge, exhibited by Andy Rahn, Virginia, Ill. This 1,105-pound steer was a son of CCS Irish Dimension, and was bred by Knight's Shorthorns, also of Virginia, Ill.

Champion purebred prospect steer was a white son of GS Deerpark ET exhibited by Mary Jett of Beaver, Okla. Her steer, Eskimo Joe, was bred by her family's Jett-Gardner Shorthorn firm.

Cy White, of Red Rock, Ariz., showed the reserve champion purebred prospect steer, CCS Thumper 91X. This son of HS Instant Enticer was bred by Cagwin Farms, Virginia, Ill.

The champion and reserve champion appendix market steers were exhibited by Paula Mark of Greencastle, Ind., and Jamie Zbinden, Cissna Park, Ill., respectively.

Champion bred & owned steer was a 1,140-pound, home-bred entry from Donnie Obrecht, Harlan, Iowa.
