

44th Annual Southeast 4-H Dairy Show

Curtis of Pine Grove. Curtis exhibited a junior calf bred by Glenn and Linda Curtis.

Bradley Kurtz, another member of the Schuylkill County 4-H, had the champion Brown Swiss, Windmill Emory Kondi. The junior two-year-old was also the 4-H champion at the Schuylkill Co. Fair. The reserve went to a 4-year-old, Balison Darlings Danielle, belonging to Cynthia Moser of Montgomery Co.

The Brown Swiss junior champion, Windmill Tempter Monica, literally ran away with the title. A long wait and coming into heat combined to shorten the animal's patience and her owner Adam Spittler wound up on the ground with a bump on his head. Spittler, a second year member, was smiling before the next class was finished and vowed to be ready for the state competition. Monica and the grand champion were both bred by William Daubert.

The reserve went to Susan Slater's senior calf, Galaxys Tasha Tiranna Star. Slater is from Perkiomenville, Montgomery Co.

Danielle Breaux, another Montgomery Co. 4-H'er, started her project with Milking Shorthorns because she liked the color. Her choice paid off with an owned and bred grand champion, Danbro PB Yanki Doodle Dandi, a summer yearling. Craig Hostetter's senior calf, Pinesedge W.C. Garita, was the reserve. Garita was the champion of the Schuylkill County Show.

Montgomery County received the house keeping award. Master fitter and showman honorees are listed just once regardless of how many times they were awarded. Results are as follows.
