

Joyce Harpster (left) took the grand champion title of the Central District FFA Jersey Show. Lynn Klinger captured the reserve grand champion.

Tammy McTavish captured the grand championship in the Brown Swiss show at the Central District FFA competition.

*Central District
FFA
Dairy
Show
Champions*

James Houser (left) won the grand champion honors in the Holstein show in the Central District FFA Dairy Show. Jonathan Boop took the reserve grand champion title in the Holstein show.

Floyd Buffington (left) took the Guernsey show grand champion in the Central District FFA Dairy Show. James Sankey (right) took the Guernsey reserve grand championship.

Linda Buffington earned the Ayrshire grand champion title in the Central District FFA Dairy Show.

Black Beauties

(Continued from Page D18)

Santa Gertrudis

Grand and junior champion female in the Santa Gertrudis division went to exhibitor Al Kreamer, who showed a March junior yearling. The reserve grand and senior yearling champion was shown by Heidi Quanbeck of Columbia.

Twin Acres Farm of Gettysburg took both grand and reserve in the summer champion runoff. The champion heifer calf was exhibited by Diamond C Ranch with reserve honors going to Kathy Reever of East Berlin.

The grand and junior champion Santa Gertrudis bull was exhibited by Five Oaks Ranch. Chapel Ridge earned both reserve senior and junior champion bull honors as well as the champion in the summer bull class. The senior champion bull was exhibited by Al Kreamer. Twin Acres took reserve summer champion bull honors as well.

Simmental

Junior and summer champion female honors in the Simmental division were taken by Winter Spring Farm in Seven Valleys. The reserve junior and summer champion titles went to entries from G&H Venture of Lebanon. Dunkard Valley Farm of Dallastown exhibited the champion heifer calf over reserve winner Winter Spring.

John Shearer of Spring Grove copped the senior and grand bull championship with his entry. G&J

Valley Farm of Spring Grove had the reserve grand and bull calf ship. Taking reserve places in both heifer and junior champion classes was Salunga Acres of Mount Joy. champions, while Winter Spring exhibited the reserve bull calf.

Hereford

Grand and junior champion female in the Hereford division was exhibited by MAP Farm/Margeaux Firestone of Womelsdorf. MAP Farm won the reserve grand and the heifer champion. The summer champion award went to DRS Polled Herefords of Dover over the reserve entry of Duaine Glessner of Waynesboro.

DRS captured the grand and junior champion in the bull classes. Reserve grand was the junior champion exhibited by MAP Farm. Travis Wherley of Shoemakersville took the senior Hereford bull honors with his entry over reserve winner Duaine Glessner. Junior champion reserve spot went to Bonheart Farm. Salunga Acres captured both bull calf ribbons.

Charolais

Ray and Mary Grimes swept the female honors in the Charolais division, taking all champion and reserve spots but one. Amy Sherman of Abbottstown earned the judge's nod for reserve champion heifer calf.

Dunkard Valley Farm of Dallastown bested the Grimes for both grand and bull calf championships, with Grimes taking the reserve spots and the summer champion bull honor.

Chianina

Honors in the Chianina classes all went to Michele Hosterman of Millheim. She showed both champion heifer and bull entries.

Other breeds

George and Sue Dutrey of Dallastown topped a class of other breed competition to take the grand and junior champion female honors with their Shorthorn heifer entry. The reserve grand and junior spots went to the entry of J&J Limousin of East Berlin. Brian Linebaugh of Abbottstown took the champion awards in both heifer and summer classes over reserve winner Lenape Limousin of Telford. J&J Limousin also claimed the junior and grand champion bull honors.

Named supreme champion bull of the York Fair's beef breeding runoffs was GH2 Villanova, owned and exhibited by GH2 Angus, the Dr. Joseph Calderazzo family. At halter is herdsman Brenda Walter.

A 4-H Angus heifer topped a field of contenders for the coveted supreme champion female honors of the York Fair's open class beef breeding show. Taking the prize was 17-year-old Sandy Eisenhower, right. Bill Holloway, center, presented the award on behalf of the fair's board, with judge Jim Hough at left.