

New York Farm Youth To Raise Funds For Disabled Peers

ITHACA, NY — The first and Junior Grange youngsters will field corn to begin a marathon wave of central New York 4-H and Junior Grange youngsters will wade into 200,000-plus ears of harvest at 10 a.m. on Saturday, November 4.

Several hundred pickers hope not only to fill corn cribs with a bounty of golden ears but also to harvest cash payments for pledges so that the Finger Lakes Independence Center (FLIC) can expand its services to disabled youngsters in Cortland, Schuyler, and Tompkins counties.

The scurrying youngsters, ranging in age from 5 to 19, already are in neighborhoods around the three-county area soliciting cash pledges for every ear of field corn they can pick in just three hours. The money will support the FLIC efforts to farm teen support groups for hearing-impaired and mobility-limited youth, to counsel victims of child sexual abuse, and to conduct training sessions in schools to sensitize children to the needs and abilities of their disabled peers.

"By pooling 4-H and New York State Grange youth programs, we not only help children develop the value of community service, but we demonstrate how intergroup cooperation combines many small contributions to make a significant impact on their peers' lives," said Mary Lou Brewer, assistant director of Cornell Cooperative Extension.

Warm drinks, snacks and a free lunch will be provided for corn pickers by Lansing United Grange No. 1599. Other community organizations, church groups, families and individuals are invited to participate. The "FLIC-PICK" will be held at Healing Sping Farm at 154 Wilson Road in Lansing.
