National Egg Market

Wednesday, January 3, 1990
NATIONAL EGG MARKET - AT A GLANCE: The market tone was mostly steady with an underlying cautiousness apparent in several areas. Distributive movement was mixed and not as aggressive as in previous weeks. Supplies were usually sufficient to cover most needs with mixed opinions in regards to additional offerings. Breakers were selective and were working close with needs.

New York Egg Market

Wednesday, January 3, 1990
Prices were unchanged. Trade sentiment was cautious. Cartoned egg demand varied with some reporting fill-in business as good while others found orders light and meeting with resistance. Floor stocks were also in irregular balance with some dealers having difficulty finding additional product while others had found supplies beginning to accumulate.
