

New York Egg Market

Wednesday, February 14, 1990
 Prices unchanged. Trade sentiment steady to instances fully steady. Cartoned egg demand was about moderate. Retail promotional activity, mainly on large eggs with some sort of tie-in, was stimulating some additional buying interest. Supplies were usually adequate for current trade needs.

New York And Philadelphia Frozen Egg Report

Tuesday, February 13, 1990
 Trade sentiment was unsettled as buyers and sellers cautious in making their commitments. Raw materials, though usually sufficient to maintain desired schedules, were not as readily available and in some instances held with a bit more confidence. Floor stocks were in good balance to satisfy current dealer needs.

National Egg Market

Atlanta, Ga.
 Wednesday, February 14, 1990
 Trade sentiment was generally firm. Loose eggs usually traded at a premium from normal relationship to cartoned product. Retail orders were fairly good. Attractive features were scattered throughout most areas. Breakers bid prices higher as offerings of nest runs decreased.

Northeast Chicke Parts

Wednesday, February 14, 1990
 Trucklot buying interest was no better than fair as most traders attempted to keep receipts in close balance with light needs. Wings were in best demand and supplies were short. Whole breasts, both rib on and line run were in light supply and firmly held despite an unaggressive call. Skinned boneless breasts were fully adequate to barely adequate as some deboners curtailed operations due to an inability to get asking prices, while others offered in half and full load volumes and had difficulty clearing. Legs were no more than adequate while leg quarters were generally adequate.
