

Family Picnic, Activities Highlight Summer Get-Together

(Continued from Page A1)

tered or grade animals, is invited to join the Brubakers and others 7 p.m., June 21, for a day of "food, fun, and fellowship."

Planned is a variety band, full course meal, numerous family oriented contests and time to talk.

The promise of having a good time is often reason enough for attending such a function. However, in this case, reasons for attending run much deeper.

It is needed in order to adapt to a drastically changing community, organizers said.

The Brubakers said they feel that farmers, especially in areas

pressured with commuter-residential and shopping center

(Turn to Page A23)

What To Bring, Directions

Registration for attending the 7 p.m., June 21, Holstein Association's family day picnic is simple, according to Lowell Brubaker, chairman of the event's committee.

The only cost involved is for the catered full-course, hot roast beef meal, Brubaker said. Children under five-years-old eat free, those under 12 eat for $4.50 and the cost is $9 for adults.

The rest of the evening carries no cost, but to help with food preparation and other planning, registration must be made by June 16.

The event is not limited to members of the Holstein Association, but is open to any and all Holstein breeders of registered and grade animals. The intent of the day is to share a family-oriented evening.

Bring A Lawn Chair

Other than themselves and a mind to have a good time, the only other thing asked of those planning to attend the event is to bring some lawn chairs and possibly some blankets to sit upon, according to Brubaker.

Registration

Registration can be made by filling out the form below and mailing it to Brubaker. Other registration forms should be available through the county extension office or through members of the association.

Out Of The Way, Easy To Find

The location of the John Brubaker farm, site of the family picnic, is best described as "You can get there from here, but some ways are better than others," according to Lowell Brubaker.

The farm's address is 612 Noble Road, in Sadsbury Township. It's close to the Chester County line. The easiest path of travel is from 896 South (Georgetown Road), travel east on Noble Road about three miles. The farm is on the right side of the road and a sign hangs from a post at the end of the lane.

1990 FAMILY DAY REGISTRATION

The _____ family from _____ plans to attend the family day event.

We have _____ members in our family and can be expected for dinner. I would like to reserve _____ adult meals, _____ children meals and _____ free meals for children under 5-years-old.

Mail registration form and payment for meals to: Lowell Brubaker, 2889 Zink Road, Manheim, PA, 17545. For more information, call (717) 653-2612.

As host of a Lancaster Holstein Association family picnic, the Brubaker family of Sadsbury Township, say they'd like all breeders of Holsteins, grade and registered, association members or not, to come join them in the June 21 event. From left is Barbara with daughter Jill, the farm's favorite cow Kelly, and John with son John Michael. Not shown are son Eric and daughter Andrea.

...IS IT GOING TO BE WET OR DRY AFTER I PLANT MY SOYBEANS?

...I BETTER USE

Lasso

MICRO-TECH

HERBICIDE BY

Monsanto

IT'S WEATHER PROOF!