National Egg Market

Wednesday, May 23, 1990

NATIONAL EGG MARKET - AT A GLANCE: The market tone continued fully steady to firm in most regions. Distributive movement was generally fair to good as increased promotional activity and a seasonal pick up in business stimulated additional buying. Supplies were usually in fair balance with current needs while additional product was held in firm hands. Breakers were cautious and with several working reduced holiday schedules next week limited their purchases of raw materials.
