

AT PLEASANT HILL DAIRY, SOME OF THE NICEST PEAKS ARE THE NEW PEAKS IN HERD AVERAGE SINCE THE FEIDT FAMILY REMODELED THEIR BARN AND SWITCHED TO BROWN'S FEEDS.

Pleasant Hill Dairy

Nestled in the Blue Mountains west of Millersburg, Dauphin County, this farm is the family farm of EUGENE AND DAVID FEIDT and families. It's 250 acres of rolling crop and pasture land produce all the alfalfa, corn silage, barley and most of the ear corn needed to feed the 76 cow home raised herd plus all replacements. Herd size increased when the barn was remodeled and now over 45% of herd is 1st calf heifers.

Reviewing Records

Dave Feidt (right) and his father, Eugene, review DHI records with Brown's Sales Rep. Steve Smelter (left). In spite of expanding the herd and some poor forage years, production has climbed steadily since starting with Brown's. They appreciate the regular visits Steve makes, timely forage testing, and Brown's Flex-Formula method of Ration Balancing.

Cow Longevity Important

Jill freshened on Aug. 19th as a six year old, bred right back to calve again on July 17th and in 243 days has already produced 24,466 lbs. of milk. Ear corn, shelled corn, barley, and Brown's 38 Milkmaster kept Jill milking at 104 lbs. at 200 days. This may not sound like a super "high-tech" "Hi Energy" diet, but the proof is in the results generated by harvesting maximum energy yield from a well balanced rumen of a mature cow.

Young Cows Pushing Hard

Fantasia freshened at 1 yr. 9 mos. in Oct., bred right back to freshen again in Sept., & at 185 days had a projected record of 18,771 of milk and 629 of fat. She peaked at 99 lbs. David credits Brown's Prolac Pellets fed as a topdress to individual high producing cows with helping several heifers approach the 100 lb. mark this winter. Herd reproductive performance and body condition have both improved since switching to BROWN'S FEEDS.
