LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.)—An enthusiastic crowd of dairy princess program supporters greeted the contestants at the 1990

Dairy Princess Pageant in the Farm and Home Center last Saturday night.

After the judges made their decision, Jacy Clugston, daughter of Kenneth and Phyllis Clugston, Manheim, was named the new Lancaster County Dairy Princess and Tammy Wanner, daughter of David and Ruth Wanner, Narvon, was named the alternate Lancaster County Dairy Princess.

Jacy took the role of Peter Pan to extol the merits of milk products. "You remember your mother told you to drink your milk, and she was right," Clugston said. And in answer to the question about personal values, the new dairy princess said every person is special, and to accept yourself in that light would eliminate a lot of jealousy and anger.

Tammy sang her presentation of an interchange between a dairy farm family and their city neighbors. The city neighbors got enlightened by what the farmer told them. In fact, they started a new life by using dairy products. Wanner said the love and kindness a person can show is of the greatest importance. These characteristics in a person would change many things in the world.

A new feature at this pageant was the introduction of six "Dairy Darlings." These small dairy farmers' daughters, age eight to ten years old, may someday be in line for the dairy princess title. Their cute responses to Angela Spickler's interview questions won the hearts of the audience.

These little girls and their parents are Lara Welk, nine-year-old daughter of Lloyd and Barbara Welk, Quarryville; Elisa Ranck, eight-year-old daughter of Donald and Virginia Ranck, Paradise; Amanda Kolb, nine-year-old daughter of Dennis and Debra Kolb, Lancaster; Katie Hess, nine-year-old daughter of Joe and Linda Hess, Marietta; Heather Brubaker, nine-year-old daughter of Lowell and Debra Brubaker, Manheim; and Denise Bollinger, eight-year-old daughter of Darryl and Ruby Bollinger, Manheim.

In the cow coloring contest, the following winners were named:

Age 5: 1. Christian Milick; 2. Janice Le; 3. Lara Fry.
Age 6: 1. Jarrod Ringer; 2. Rebecca Jenkins; 3. Ashley Kline.

Age 7: 1. Ida Kerr; 2. Adam Kerlin; 3. Anthony Le.
Age 8: 1. Shawn Kreider; 2. Kim Martin; 3. George McConnell.

Angela Spickler, the 1989 Lancaster County Dairy Princess and Alternate State Dairy Princess, crowned the new princess and gave her farewell address.

"It has truly been an exciting year," Spickler said. "I am especially honored to have been able to represent Lancaster County. Now that my year as dairy princess has officially come to an end, I find that parting is a sweet sorrow. In many ways, I am excited about putting my experiences to use in other areas. However part of me will always want to be the one to stand up when someone says, 'We will now hear a few words from our Lancaster County Dairy Princess.'"

Tammy Wanner was named the 1990 Lancaster County dairy princess alternate.
