

Ed Seminars At World Pork Expo

DES MOINES, Iowa. — Pork producers attending World Pork Expo May 31-June 2 here at the Iowa State Fairgrounds will be able to attend a variety of educational seminars as well as receive answers to hog production questions at the "Ask The Expert" booth.

Educational seminars will be held all three days of the Expo in the cattle barn. Producers and consumers are encouraged to attend the seminars on the following topics:

- Artificial insemination. This live demonstration will help producers become more efficient and competitive by using artificial insemination techniques. (Sponsored by Swine Genetics International and International Boar Semen.)
- Hog facility remodeling. University agricultural engineers and a consultant will guide producers through the process of when and how to update their hog buildings. (Sponsored by "Successful Farming" magazine.)

- Finding and keeping managers and labor. An experienced recruiting professional will give producers tips on how to find the right employees and keep them. (Sponsored by AgriCareers.)

- Avoiding emergency rooms and court rooms — safety and liability issues. An agriculture safety specialist will explain how pork producers can make their operations a safer place to work. An attorney will share his insight on how producers can steer clear of the legal battles that sometimes surround production agriculture. (Sponsored by "National Hog Farmer" magazine.)
- Swine health in breeding and farrowing. Veterinarians and producers will discuss specific ways to ensure herd health during breeding and farrowing, which will increase producer efficiency. (Sponsored by Farm Progress Company/"The Hog Producer" magazine. They will also sponsor the official seminar program.)

- Swine respiratory health. Veterinarians and university personnel will explain ways producers can increase performance and profitability in their herds while fighting PRV. In addition, the speakers will discuss how production records and new technologies can be used to identify and control respiratory disease in herds. (Sponsored by SmithKline Beecham Animal Health.)

Also in the cattle barn, extension specialists will be operating the "Ask the Expert" booth. The extension specialists will be available to answer attendees questions at no charge in the areas of nutrition, genetics, swine health, housing, waste management, and reproduction.

RIDGE-TILL OR CONVENTIONAL TILL

Rarely has any tool saved more time, more work and more money. The Lilliston 6400 Series Rolling® Cultivator, with its 16 inch notched disc gangs, builds better ridges, clears more residue, controls weeds, aerates the soil, reduces wind and water erosion and improves crop yields. Available in almost any size these rugged cultivators can be used in a wide range of field and crop conditions. Gangs easily adjust to a variety of row spacings, and you can cultivate at speeds up to 10 mph.

Come in today and see how the Lilliston 6430, with its 16 inch notched disc gangs, can change your farm economy—for the better!
