Susquehanna Co. 4-H Dairy Judging

Susquehanna County 4-H Dairy judging is having another very good year at state contests.

The team members have been practicing for several months and have competed in two state contests. There are 12 youth who are now participating in dairy judging.

The annual Penn State Spring Judging contest was held in March and there were four seniors and two juniors who participated. In the senior division, the Susquehanna County team placed second overall. Individual highlights included a tie for fifth place overall by Matt Curley and Dan Gesford. These two individuals also tied for first place on reasons in the 4-H division.

There were more than 200 youth at this contest to judge in the junior and senior 4-H, FFA, or collegiate divisions. Other Susquehanna County participants in this contest were Cathy, Michele, and Steve Pavelski and Andrea Garner.

At the Delaware Valley College annual dairy judging contest, the Susquehanna County senior team placed first overall in the 4-H division. This contest is held in April and is open to 4-H, FFA, and collegiate participants. There were more than 100 youth at this year's contest.

Individual highlights of this contest included three of the four seniors placing in the top five in the overall contest. Those three include Tim Empet and Cathy and Steve Pavelski. Michele Pavelski was the other senior and she placed fifth in reasons. Andrea Garner competed in the junior division and did very well.

The Susquehanna County 4-H judging teams are now continuing their practices for the state 4-H judging contest, which will be held at the State 4-H Achievement Days. Winners from this contest will qualify to go on to the national judging contest held in Wisconsin each fall.

As well as dairy judging, there will be a dairy bowl team participating in the state contest.
