

National Dairy Board

ty; and utilization of dairy components as food ingredients.

In the area of nutrition research, the board decided to continue administering this program through the National Dairy Council.

The board approved just over $1.9 million for continued and new research projects on subjects, including the effects of dietary calcium on bone mineral in various age segments, the use of dairy products in dietary management and the effects of dairy foods on various cancers, to name a few.

In a continuing effort to demonstrate the benefits of eating cultured dairy products — for example, yogurt — to stimulate the body's immune system, the board approved two research studies. One of the studies will determine whether yogurt eating in the elderly can enhance the benefits of a vaccination, and the other will evaluate yogurt's ability to prevent recurring vaginitis in women.

To provide more supporting scientific data to the chocolate milk campaign and other future product campaigns, the board approved $150,000 to fund research establishing the anti-cavity potential of dairy foods compared to other foods used for snacking.

Export Enhancement

Although much of the board meeting focussed on domestic activities and research, the export program was also a significant item on the agenda.

The top item in export was the board's approval of plans to step up promotion of value-added dairy products in Mexico by establishing local representation there.

Promotion activities will begin with research to identify how Mexican consumers feel about U.S. cheese, yogurt and ice cream.

Once the key benefits perceived by those consumers are identified, promotions based on those messages will begin. NDB will also work with U.S. exporters to provide them with trade contacts in Mexico as well as assist them in developing marketing strategies.

Among its promotions, NDB will sponsor a booth at a U.S. products trade show in Mexico City next year, fund a retail promotion for yogurt, and host a cheese trade seminar. NDB will put up $42,650 for the activities while USDA will provide $60,500 through the Foreign Agriculture Service.

The National Dairy Promotion and Research Board, composed of 36 dairy farmers, was established by the Dairy and Tobacco Adjustment Act of 1983 to develop and administer a coordinated program of promotion, re-search and nutrition education to strengthen the dairy industry's position in the marketplace.

This effort is financed by America's dairy farmers.
