

Ag Teachers Honor Members

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — "October is Beef Month," a checkoff-funded public relations campaign developed by the Pennsylvania Beef Council, earned top honors in the producer-funded public relations category of the Chesapeake Chapter of the National Agri-Marketing Association (NAMA). The entree will now advance to compete in the national competition.

The "October is Beef Month" promotion included a direct-mail booklet which highlighted the contributions of Pennsylvania's beef industry. The booklet and accompanying press releases and radio public service announcements were mailed to daily and weekly newspapers throughout the state and select radio stations. A slightly revised version of the booklet was sent to high school libraries across Pennsylvania, where it will serve as an industry reference manual.

Here's what farmers are saying about

Fertrell.

"We're hitting levels of production that have exceeded our goals — levels that we thought were unattainable. I have a lot of faith in the people at Fertrell. I can trust them and I know they care about my herd."

Ron Wood, Gorwood Holsteins
Tioga County

"Our cows have a better appetite and are healthier. They freshen easier, clean quicker, show less stress and don't come down with milk fever as often. Even the vet said the herd is healthier!"
