SEVEN VALLEYS (York Co.)

The surprise honor was announced during the club's annual banquet and awards program, held Jan. 25 at the Seven Valleys Fire Company hall.

For 14 years, Wise had helped to surprise the annual outstanding award honorees of the beef club, gathering biographical information and compiling the booklets for each year's awards dinner.

In addition to her work with the beef club, Kathy assists with other 4-H programs and handles extension secretarial responsibilities for various adult livestock programs.
She also works closely with the board of the York County 4-H

Best on the Farm

Alfalfa grower Robert Grossnickle of Woodsboro, MD planted Medallion on his "Johnsville Farms" located in Frederick County in the spring of 1990. Two years later, he reports, "we've grown some other alfalfas but we like Medallion best. Medallion is definitely a thicker stand and very leafy clear down to the ground. Because we know it's our best quality, we always feed it to the cows first. We think it's the best value for the cost of starting a new stand. (Photo above)
