YORK (York Co.) — Two veteran York County swine breeders shared two of the York Fair open class swine show supreme titles, with a third claimed by a first-year 4-H exhibitor.

Supreme champion boar was the winning Spotted entry of long-time breeders and exhibitors Jim Parlett and Son of Airville. The champion boar was a homebred, January-born entry.

Taking the supreme champion gilt was another York County veteran, Roger Bankert of Hanover. His winning Chester female was March-born.

In the supreme champion barrow contest, 9-year-old Dallastown 4-H member Jocelyn Eberly beat the field of veteran competitors with her purebred Hampshire entry. The winning barrow, a youth project purchased from breeder Tom Frantz, Seven Valleys, also claimed the champion title in the 4-H market show.

Duroc breed honors were shared by Tom Frantz, Seven Valleys, with the champion gilt; Roger Bankert, Hanover, champion boar; and Jim Parlett and Son, champion barrow.

Parlett also took both the gilt and barrow championships in Chesters, with the boar award won by Bankert. Spotted honors all went to Parlett.

The Arlie Cornbower family of New Freedom swept the Berkshire division, taking all champion titles.

Hampshire honors split among three exhibitors. Jocelyn Eberly had champion barrow, while Sue Thomas of Stewartstown had the gilt champion and Donna Strawbridge, Windsor, exhibited the champion boar.

In the Yorkshire breed, Marylander Kenneth Bauer took both boar and gilt championships, with the barrow title going to Donna Strawbridge, Windsor.

Larry Robinson, Delta, claimed champion boar and barrow awards in the Landrace breed show. Lacie Watkins, Delta, exhibited the champion gilt.

Rookie Tops York 4-H Market Swine
