MICHAELMAS DAY, SEPTEMBER 29

A GOOSE FEAST

September 29 is the feast day of St. Michael the Archangel and also one of the Quarter Days when summer work ended, school started, rents and other payments became due, and you paid your servants and gave them winter clothes. Even Shakespeare uses Michaelmas as a point of reference in Henry IV (and The Merry Wives of Windsor). Michaelmas Eve, September 28, was described as an evening of family games and fun. A tradition of eating the Michaelmas goose is still alive in northern Europe since geese are plump and ready to eat this time of year. The goose was usually stuffed with potatoes to cut the grease and served with a creamy onion sauce. An old saying insisted that "if you eat goose on Michaelmas Day, you never want money all the year round."

So many days old the moon is on Michaelmas, so many floods after.

TIP OF THE WEEK

To get relief from a nagging cough, put a dab of honey on the back of your tongue.

EARTHWISE

After cooking something smelly, like fish, just stick a whole, unpeeled lemon in a 300° F oven for 15 minutes with the door slightly open, or slice a lemon into a pot with boiling water for a nice fresh scent. You might want to use some of your herbs and spices instead of commercial sprays. Sprinkle some cloves, nutmeg, or ginger on the floor before vacuuming, or put some sprigs of fresh herbs in your oven after you are done roasting or cooking. Put some cinnamon sticks and cloves in boiling water and let simmer for a few minutes.

BUTTERMILK/HERB SALAD DRESSING

- 1/2 cup buttermilk
- 1/2 cup mayonnaise
- 1/2 teaspoon dried basil (or 1 1/2 teaspoons fresh basil, chopped)
- 1/2 teaspoon dried dill weed (or 1 1/2 teaspoons fresh dill, chopped)
- dash of Worcestershire sauce
- salt and pepper to taste

Combine all ingredients in a jar. Cover and shake well to mix. You may want to use a blender. To use buttermilk powder: Substitute 2 tablespoons buttermilk powder and 1/2 cup milk for the liquid buttermilk. Makes 1 cup.
