NY Phila Frozen Eggs

Edison, NJ
December 15, 1992

The market tone was barely steady to weak. Trading activity was sporadic as buyers generally waited and watched closely for further market developments. Raw materials were more than adequate for light processing needs. Breakers attempted to reduce running time to avoid building unwanted inventories.

Sales are too few to report on either class of fowl. Offerings of light type are at least adequate to instances fully adequate and slaughter schedules are booking into end of month at open prices. Availability of heavy hens continue to be limited but generally reported as sufficient for the light interest from processing plants. Undertone barely steady to weak on light type and unsettled on heavies.

Northeast Chicken Parts

Wednesday, December 16, 1992

Trucklot buying interest continued irregular. Supplies of boneless skinless breasts ranged fully adequate to close balance. Some sellers were oversold for late week deliveries while others were looking for buyer bids to clear available supplies. Line run breasts were available at several locations and trading was reported at unchanged to lower prices. Most buyers limited receipts to commitments and to immediate needs. Yellow skin leg quarters were difficult to clear; asking prices and trading trended lower. Wings continued short of trade needs but sales were reported at current prices.
