served on the BOAC, citrus, community service, alumni relations, and cider committees. John has held various positions, including chapter and county president. He received the Greenhand, Star Greenhand, Chapter, and County degrees. At the Big E competition, he placed second in dairy showmanship.

Leslie Evans

Attending computer school make up the future plans for Northern Bedford FFA member Leslie Evans, Woodbury. FFA activities and projects include sheep and swine finishing, and Leslie has served on the citrus, banquet, pig roast, recreation, and cider committees. Leslie also obtained a first place in dairy judging at Bedford County, and served as secretary for the chapter for three years, and is president of the chapter. The FFA'er also received proficiency awards for sheep and swine projects.

Fares Farhat

Plans for four-year Halifax FFA member Fares Farhat, Halifax, include attending college to study for a career in agronomy, and then to raise beef and sheep. Fares has spent a great deal of time gaining experience in various levels of production agriculture, including sheep, beef, forage, and grain. The FFA'er has also served on various committees, including seed, fruit, banquet, recreation, and Farm Show. Also, Fares has shown at various county and state fairs, and participated in livestock judging and public speaking contests, in addition to the state legislative leadership conference. The Halifax FFA member has also received the Greenhand, Chapter Farm, and CDP Area degrees, served as chapter historian, and is chapter president.

Donald Ferster

Donald Ferster, 17, son of Mark and Charlotte Ferster, Dornsite, plans to work with his father in the excavating business. The four-year Mahantango FFA'er from Line Mountain High School has worked for his father during the last four years, helping to install septic systems, manure storage systems, waterways, and other conservation work. He has served as chapter secretary and vice president, and has been awarded the SUN Area and Star Northumberland County Farmer degrees. In 1992, he placed first in the state in small gas engines and was on the 1991 first-place time at the Eastern Exposition in ag mechanics.

Scott Finucan

Future plans for Scott Finucan, Central Columbia FFA member, include attending Tennessee Automotive College. The Mifflinville resident has served on various chapter committees, including citrus sales, banquet, conduct of meetings, fair, and public relations. He has also served as chapter chaplain and vice president, and was awarded the Greenhand and Chapter Star Agribusinessman degrees.

Kenneth A. Fisher

The choice of dairy farmer/veterinarian forms the plans of Kenneth A. Fisher, son of Glenn and Verda Fisher, St. Thomas. The four-year Conococheague FFA member has been involved in a wide array of activities at the chapter, including service on the citrus, recreation, constitution, FFA Week, Halloween parade, pedal pull, baby barnyard, banquet, and Mercersburg Fair committees. Kenneth has received recognition for projects related to feed grain production, home and farmstead improvement, diversified crop production, placement in ag, and others. He has served as a parliamentary procedure team member and vice president of the chapter, and received the Greenhand, Star Greenhand, Chapter Farm, Star Chapter Agribusinessman, and County FFA degrees.

Matthew M. Foor

Matthew M. Foor, son of John M. and Mary Sue Foor, Berlin, notes that he wants to further his education in future plans. While serving the Berlin Brothersvalley FFA chapter, Matthew has been involved on various committees, including fruit sales, and as a member of the parliamentary procedure team. He has showed cattle and hogs at various events, and has served Berlin Brothersvalley FFA during the past four years as assistant chaplain, chaplain, and sentinel. He was awarded the Chapter Degree.
