broiler/fryers was slow. In some instances product was being offered at increasingly competitive price levels in an attempt to stimulate additional interest. Live supplies were generally adequate. Sizes were mostly desirable. Processing schedules were heavy. Less than trucklot asking prices were unchanged at 49 to 60 cents. Trade sentiment was barely steady. Parts interest waned also with the breasts still in the best position.

National Egg Market

Wednesday, January 27, 1993

NATIONAL EGG MARKET - AT A GLANCE: Prices were unchanged. The market tone was steady in the Northeast and Midwest, steady to fully steady in the South and on the West Coast. Demand ranged light to instances good, mostly fair, and best where featured. Supplies were generally adequate with occasional shortages in the South. Extra eggs continued to be held with confidence except for some surplus jumbos offered in the Midwest at steady to lower prices. Breaking stock supplies were closely balanced to adequate, and prices were unchanged to higher. Light type hen markets were steady to firm, mostly fully steady with offerings usually short to instances balanced with the moderate to good demand.

Trucklot buying interest was quite irregular. Supplies of boneless skinless breasts were in close balance with trade needs with some buyer inquiries for late week deliveries not booked. Trading was reported at higher prices than prior day. Line run breasts were very tight. Supplies to cover regular business was adequate but very little additional product was available. Shipper asking prices trended higher. All dark meat items were adequate for a fair demand and prices were generally steady. Wings continued to be fully adequate to ample for the very light and cautious buying interest. Prices trended lower.
