

BST Gets Thumbs

ers Union; Dr. David Kronfeld, private citizen, but a well-known attendant to animal rights and industry issues events; an unannounced substitute speaker for the Center for Science in the Public Interest; Tim Atwater, spokesman for Rural Vermont, an advocacy organization for the family farm;

Dr. Jeremy Rifkin, well-known anti-animal industry proponent;

Louise Risk, speaking for Food Animal Concerns Trust; and Dr.

Micahel Fox, with the Humane Society of the U.S.

Except for Kronfeld, none of those speaking against BST stayed as was requested, to answer questions from the committee about their testimony.

Those speaking on behalf of BST included several dairy farmers who have had herds on BST for five years and testified they experienced no increase in mastitis; a spokesman for the National Mastitis Council; the American Veterinary Medical Association; several other veterinarians who had worked with BST herds and presented data on some, such as True Farms in New York; three representatives from Monsanto, including Collier, and a consultant to Monsanto.

PREVENT PIGLET CRUSHING

MODEL 90 FARROWING CRATE

Constructed from heavy gauge materials this crate is designed to reduce crushing, with sow comfort in mind. The bowed bottom bars makes for a comfortable 33" crate width when the sow lays down, yet the adjustable anti-crush bars eliminates the sow from carelessly dropping on the piglets. This movement restriction does not hamper the sow as she lays down, or wants to stand up, as the bars slide up and out of her way.
