

The Claas® Liner 1500 rotary rake with contour undercarriage adapts to uneven, rough ground conditions, even at high working speeds to deliver a thorough, clean harvest.

Aden Accepts Manager Role

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — Dean Aden, of Dayton, has been named regional manager for northwestern Pennsylvania.

Aden has been employed as a technician in Armstrong County for three years and also serves as a senior technician.

As a senior technician, he has traveled around the western part of the state doing member recruiting, relief work and training of new employees.

As a region manager, he is to be responsible for all aspects of the DHIA program in an 18-county region and is to ensure that organization policies are followed in all field service functions.

He and his wife, Rose, have four children and 10 grandchildren. Prior to joining DHIA, Aden had his own dairy farm from 1954 to 1990. He is an elder in the Concord Presbyterian Church.

Over the years, Aden has served on his local school board, the Extension Service Committee, ASCS Board of Directors, and has been active in the local Young Farmers Association for more than 30 years.

Statewide, Pa.DHIA serves more than 5,000 members and employs about 180 local field service technicians.

Claas Liner 1500 Adapts To Provide Clean Harvest

COLUMBUS, Ind. — The Liner 1500 rotary rake from Claas of America, Inc., with contour undercarriage, adapts to uneven, rough ground conditions, even at high working speeds to deliver a thorough, clean harvest.

It has an adjustable working width up to 21 feet 4 inches, allowing the rake to be adapted to harvester or mower pickup. Transport width is 10 feet.

Equipped with twin rotors, the 1500 provides a neat, loose windrow to the side while rotor weight compensation with strong Belleville-type springs protect the crop.

The rotors are driven by double universal joints, permitting the 1500 to be lifted from the tractor seat without disengaging the PTO and allowing operation of one rotor where space is limited.

A flow divider ensures that both rotors are raised completely and equally. Each rotor has 10 tine arms and each tine carrier has four double tines. Electric height adjustment is optional.

For more information, contact Claas of America, Inc., 3030 Norcross Drive, Columbus, IN 47202, (800) 368-1516.

Pa. DHIA Appoints Field Staff

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — Dean Amick, director of field operations for Pa. DHIA, has recently announced several new field staff appointments.

Named a region manager was David Shenk, a senior technician from Perry County, who is to be working closely with Harry Fritz.

Fritz is regional manager for the southeast part of the state. He is scheduled to retire Nov. 1, completing a 45-year career with DHIA. After Fritz retires, Shenk is to be regional manager.

Also appointed to regional manager was Dean Aden, a senior technician from Armstrong County who is to be working in the northwest region. He is currently working with David Bigelow, who has been region manager in the 18-county area for four years.

Bigelow, who is Region 1 manager, has accepted to position of coordinator of training. A resident of Williamsburg, Bigelow is to work out of the State College office of Pa.DHIA.

His duties include coordination of all phases of field staff employee training, conducting training, and assisting the director of field operations with providing service to Pa.DHIA's 5,000 members.

BARTVILLE WELDING SHOP

The company that invented the idea, and the machine, has now reinvented it - from the ground up. From the tough "walking beam" suspension to the sleek 6 ton hopper. And the price is right, too.
