ing contests at Penn State, state and national FFA Chorus, and area and regional FFA public speaking contests. His agricultural program consisted of home garden projects, greenhouse project, and work experience on his family's dairy farm. Following graduation, Grant will serve as 1993-1994 state FFA treasurer.

As this year's winner, Grant receives a pin and certificate, and his name will be inscribed on a special plaque displayed in the school's main lobby. The Dekalb Award, often considered the highest honor a vo-ag student can receive on the local level, is presented at nearly 3,000 schools annually.

Local Students Attend FFA Week

Five students from Red Lion Area High School recently attended FFA Activities Week at Penn State, competing in state contests and attending the Summer Convention along with approximately 1,200 other FFA members, advisors, and guests.

Those attending who received awards were Shanna Daugherty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geoffrey Daugherty, who received a gold award in meats judging; LeAnn Graham, daughter of Glenn Graham, who received a bronze award in the dairy judging contest; and Tracey Willwert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Willwert, who received a bronze award in horse judging.

Other students attending were

Regina Shelton, daughter of Cindy Spangler, who participated in the dairy judging contest and Joseph Strayer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Strayer, who also participated in the dairy judging contest.

Also attending the convention was former National FFA officer Marty Coates. He presented a leadership workshop on goal setting and was the featured speaker at the first session of the convention. The featured speaker at the second session of the convention was former Pennsylvania officer Andy Rill.

The students were accompanied to the annual statewide event, which is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Department of Vocational Education and Penn State's Department of Agricultural and Extension Education, by Guy W. Naugle, Jr., agricultural education instructor.
